GENERAL NEWS.

FROM NEW YORK.

FROM THE INDIAN COUNTRY.

The Crow Indians to Co-operate with Gen. Gibbons in Moving against the Sioux.

NEW YORK, May 3.

A letter from Bozeman Mont, the 14th, says Gen. Gibbons, with six companies of infantry and four of cavalry held a council with the Crow Indians the 9th, at their agency, and some 3000 of them will probably join Gibbons in driving the Sioux beyond the Yellowstone river. A party of 187 miners left Crow agency for the head waters of the Pongee river, the 9th, after a conference with Gen. Gibbons. The reports of gold in that region are quite favorable. Gibbon's column will aid Crook and Custer in driving the Sioux out of the territory between the Yellowstone and Powder rivers.

More of the Miles Story of the Safe Burglary.

The convict Miles sends to a Washington correspondent the statement that the contractor in the closet of the room where the safe was broken open, was Evans, and the party he (Miles) conferred with at the hotel was Babcock. The burglar Benton was promised $5000 by Harrington to stick to the story that Alexander hired him to commit the burglary, and the terms of agreement with Miles were that he was not to be arrested by detectives or others. Miles says Babcock got up the whole thing to break up the investigation into false measurement.

The Probable Result of the Brooklyn Navy Yard Investigation.

The Graphic says the House sub-committee, investigating the Brooklyn Navy Yard affairs have not heard a single witness who could fix a fraudulent act upon officials, or point to any collusion between them and contractors. The committee will, doubtless recommend that the Colossus and Java, now rotting on the stocks, be broken up and sold, and that Congress provide more effectual means for the preservation of the large amount of timber now in store at the yard.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Grand Jury Agree in a Presentment Against Belknap.

WASHINGTON, May 3.

The grand jury of the district have agreed upon a presentment against Belknap for alleged received bribes in official stations. The case was first brought to the attention of the grand jury by District Attorney Wells, March 10th, and thereupon the members of the investigating committee and the principal witness in the case, C. P. Marsh, were summoned. The committee members appeared, and afterwards Marsh, and were examined. A summons was sent yesterday for Mrs. Marsh, but the marshal was unable to find that lady and returned the summons non est. The presentment of Belknaw is now in the hands of the district attorney, who will prepare a formal indictment.

The Cabinet on the Winslow Extradition Question.

Mr. Faulkner, of the foreign affairs committee, who is specially in charge of the matter of the extradition treaty with England, called on the Secretary of State today, and was told that the report that the Cabinet yesterday discussed the question raised on the Winslow case, and had decided to notify the British government of the intention of the United States to abrogate the extradition provision of the treaty was baseless, there being no action whatever taken on the subject. Mr. Fish expressed the opinion that the State Department will take no action in the premises until some demand is made on this government by Great Britain for the extradition of some fugitive, in which event the portion of the treaty in question would be treated as abrogated. It is understood that the correspondence on this subject will be sent to the committee on foreign affairs as soon as this government receives information of the discharge of Winslow, which was expected today. The matter will then be considered by the committee, with a view to framing such legislation as may be deemed expedient.

A New Resumption Scheme.

The committee on banking and currency will take up tomorrow a new scheme of resumption. The bill provides for the repeal of so much of last year's resumption act as fixes the date of resumption, and then adds an additional section providing for the retirement of one million of legal tenders each month. Another proposition will be submitted by the committee, providing that, at a certain date, greenbacks shall only be a legal tender for 75 per cent. of debts, at another date for only 50 per cent., and at another for only 25 per cent.

Senator Morton's Vindication.

Mr. Morton turned the charge against him concerning the use of the $250,000 for equipping Indiana troops in 1861, to decided personal advantage today by his explanation in the Senate, the Senator's war record being the last thing on which his enemies, least of all his Democratic enemies, should venture to attack him.

The Safe Robbery.

The convict, Miles send to a correspondent here the statement that the contractor in the closet of the room where the safe was broken open was Evans, and the party he [Miles] conferred with at the hotel was Babcock. The burglar Benton was promised $5000 by Harrington to stick to the story that Alexander hired him to commit the robbery, and the terms of agreement with Miles were that he was not to be arrested by the detectives or others. Miles says Babcock got up the whole thing to break up the investigation into false measurement.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SUICIDE.

[Special Despatch to the News by Franklin Line.]

PAWTUCKET, May 4.

A servant girl employed in the family of Edwin Jenckes, committed suicide by jumping from Exchange bridge into the water below, a distance of 40 feet, this morning about six o'clock.

NEWS FROM CALIFORNIA.

The Chinese Investigation.—Heathen Practices of the Celestials.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.

Before the senate commission appointed to investigate the Chinese question, now sitting in Sacramento, C. P. O'Neil, a policeman, yesterday testified to having been witness to the sale of a Chinese woman for $450. The woman soon after committed suicide, not liking the man to whom she had been sold. He also testified that he had been informed by the Chinese that they attended mission school solely to learn the English language, and laughed at the idea of becoming Christians. Ah Dan, a Chinese interpreter, testified that two Chinese interpreters had been killed in Sacramento for services in court in procuring convictions and a reward was outstanding for his life. He also saw notices posted in San Francisco containing an agreement to employ counsel to defend the murderer of obnoxious parties if arrested, to recompense him if imprisoned, and send money to his relatives in China if executed.

BRODHEAD EXPEDITING THE ST. LOUIS WHISKEY TRIALS.

ST. LOUIS, May 3.

Col. Brodhead, special counsel for the government, gave notice in the United States district court today that he would tomorrow move to consolidate all pending indictments or counts of indictments against the defendants in whiskey cases with those to which they had pleaded guilty, so that one judge would dispose of all the cases and clear the record. It may be expected, therefore, that sentencing will begin tomorrow.

EXTRADITION IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, May 3.

Edwd. Temperly Gourley, liberal, will ask Attorney General Holkar if the United States has protested against the action of the British government concerning Winslow and if so, whether America's demands are in harmony with or contrary to the provisions of the treaties of 1842 and 1870. He will also question the attorney general as to what course he advises the government to adopt for the purpose of upholding or altering existing treaties.

Mr. Toleston, Conservative, will ask for papers on the same subject.

THE ROYAL TITLE.

Sir Henry James to Move a Vote of Censure in Parliament.

LONDON, May 3.

The Paris Association reports the following: "We understand that in consequence of dissatisfaction caused by the proclamation giving effect to the royal title act, and which does not limit the use of the title of empress strictly to India, Sir Henry James will give notice in the house tomorrow that he will move a resolution equivalent to a vote of censure, to the effect that the proclamation does not fulfill the pledges given by the governor during the debate on the royal titles bill, and therefore, the vote on the bill was taken under misconception. The marquis of Partington will ask Disraeli for an opportunity to discuss the above motion."

THE CUBAN REBELLION.

The Town of Sagua and Adjoining Sugar Plantations Destroyed by Fire.

NEW YORK, May 3.

An Havana letter dated April 27 says that the town of Sagua and adjacent sugar warehouses have been destroyed by the forces under Gomez. Several plantations suffered the same fate. There had been very hard fighting at Encrucijada, the patriots driving the enemy off the field with a very heavy loss in men and material.

Both the railroad and telegraph lines leading into Sagua were destroyed. Two trains (one freight and the other passenger) were also destroyed. Garcia, with 3500 men and the government of the republic, has crossed Trocha lately into the Cinco Villas district from Camaguey. The Spanish army is on the defensive everywhere, covering the most important places from attack, the plantations being left to take care of themselves.

RHODE ISLAND'S RESPONSE TO ALABAMA'S FRATERNAL GREETING.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Providence, May 1st, 1876.

To His Excellency
GEORGE S. HOUSTON,
Governor of Alabama,
Montgomery, Alabama.

Sir:—The copy of the joint resolutions adopted by the general assembly of the state of Alabama, in relation to the first centennial year of the declaration of American independence, were duly received by me and laid before the General Assembly of this state then in session. In token of their appreciation of these fraternal greetings, resolutions reciprocating the same were adopted, of which I herewith enclose a copy under the seal of the state. I esteem it a great privilege and favor to become the medium of communicating to your excellency, and through you to the people of the state of Alabama, the cordial sentiments of esteem which the people of Rhode Island entertain towards her sister states; the vital interest she feels in perpetuating the Union, and the total extinction of all feeling of estrangement arising out of any differences in the past.

With assurance of high regard, I have the honor to remain, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
HENRY LIPPITT, Governor.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND.
IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
January Session, A. D., 1876.

RESOLUTION authorizing the governor to reciprocate the greetings of the governor of Alabama.

WHEREAS the legislature of the state of Alabama has, by a series of joint resolutions in relation to the "first centennial year of the declaration of American independence," extended to the people of the state of Rhode Island greetings of fraternal good will:

First, Resolved, By the House of Representatives, (the senate concurring,) That the General Assembly of Rhode Island, representing the people of the state, accepts with sentiments of profound pleasure the cordial greetings of the state of Alabama, and fully reciprocates the fraternal spirit which prompted them.

Second, That we recognize the occurrence of the first centennial of the declaration of American independence as a most proper opportunity for the expression of our gratitude to the illustrious founders of our liberty and the emphatic reiteration of our devotion to the principles which they formulated and for which they fought.

Third, That we heartily concur in any and every movement to keep in lively recollection the glorious memories connected with the birthday of our nation; to strengthen the ties of friendship and good will that should unite the citizens of our common country, and enable them to act harmoniously in the interests of its honor and prosperity, and toward the fulfilment of its glorious destiny.

Fourth, That it shall be the duty of the governor to furnish a copy of these resolutions, under the seal of the state, to the governor of the state of Alabama.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of resolutions passed by the General Assembly of the state of Rhode Island on the 20th day of April, A., D. 1876.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the state, this twenty-eighth day of April, A. D. 1876.

JOSHUA M. ADDEMAN,
Secretary of State.

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1876.

THE DAY.

The grand jury of the District of Columbia proposes to indict ex-Secretary of War Belknap for bribe taking while in office.

The Cuban insurgents have been successful in several engagements recently, placing the government forces almost entirely on the defensive.

The United States direct cable is at present the only telegraph line in operation between this country and Europe, communication by all other lines being temporarily interrupted.

The contest for the Senatorship in Connecticut is quite animated, and the fight between the Barnum and English factions is growing warm. Governor Ingersoll was inaugurated yesterday and delivered his address.

Mier has been occupied by the Mexican revolutionists, and Piedras is threatened. A call has been made for United States troops to protect American citizens residing in Mier. General Escobedo is marching against Monterey at the head of 5000 veteran troops.

In the United States Senate yesterday Mr. Morton made a personal explanation in refutation of the charge of illegally using $250,000 belonging to the government while he was governor of Indiana. The Japanese indemnity fund bill was further considered. The House unseated Farwell, Republican representative from the third Illinois district, and seated LeMoyne, the Democratic contestant. The balance of the session was occupied in discussing the post office appropriation bill.

The second Massachusetts Congressional district has elected John E. Sanford of Taunton, for four years speaker of the house of representatives, and Edward L. Pierce to be delegates to the Cincinnati convention. These gentlemen are unpledged, but their names were on the Bristow ticket, while the Blaine ticket bore the names of Messrs. Hobart and Gilmore. Alphous Hardy of Boston and Charles R. McLean have been elected delegates from the fourth district, and George B. Loring and Henry Carter have been chosen in the sixth district, with John G. Whittier and Robert Couch as alternates.

TREATY OBLIGATIONS.

It appears that Winslow has not been set at liberty after all, but was yesterday remanded to jail for ten days pending farther negotiations.

The action of the English government in hesitating to give up Winslow to our officers is utterly indefensible, and is inconsistent with recent English precedents. The facts in the case are these. The Ashburton treaty of 1842 contains in article 10th the following words:—

"ARTICLE 10. It is agreed that the United States and her Britannic majesty shall, upon mutual requisitions by them, or their ministers, officers or authorities, respectively made, deliver up to justice all persons who, being charged with the crime of murder, or assault with intent to commit murder, piracy, arson, robbery, forgery, or the utterance of forged paper, committed within the jurisdiction of either, shall seek an asylum or shall be found within the territories of the other. Provided, that this shall only be done upon such evidence of criminality as, according to the laws of the place where the fugitive or person so charged shall be found, would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime or offense had there been committed, etc., etc.

"ART. 11. * * * The tenth article shall continue in force until one or the other of the parties shall signify its wish to terminate it, and no longer."

Nobody contends that this treaty contains any restriction as to crimes for which the extradited person is to be tried. But in 1870 the English parliament enacted a law which contained the following:—

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered to a foreign state unless provision is made by the law of that state, or by arrangement, that the fugitive criminal shall not, until he has been restored, or had an opportunity of returning to her majesty's dominions, be detained or tried in that foreign state for any offence committed prior to his surrender, other than the extradition crime proved by the facts on which the surrender is grounded."

But this law of 1870 also contains this clause.

The acts specified in the third schedule of this act [one of which ratified our treaty of 1842] are hereby repealed as to the whole of her majesty's dominions; and this act, with the exception of anything contained in it which is inconsistent with the treaties referred to in the acts so repealed, shall apply, as regards crimes committed either before or after the passing of this act, in the case of the foreign states with which these treaties are made, etc.

This clearly provides that treaties already passed are not to be altered by an act of Parliament, and no notice was ever given, as above provided for, for the amendment or abrogation of the 10th article of the Ashburton treaty.

The London Times says "It is a matter of wonder this question has not arisen before, but now it has been raised, our government would appear to have no discretion in the matter." In the first place this question (of restrictions on extradition) has come up before, but, secondly, the English government has no discretion in the matter. It is of course bound to carry out its treaty stipulations rather than an act of Parliament passed twenty eight years later. The Times says the omission (of restrictions in the treaty) "cannot override an act of Parliament," but on the other hand we would like to know by what right one party to a treaty presumes to amend that treaty without the knowledge or consent of the other party.

In 1872, two years after the passage of the act in question, the relations of the act to the French treaty of 1843 were discussed in connection with the case of Bouvier, a fugitive from French justice. Attorney-General Coleridge said that the intention of Parliament, in 1870, "was to make a general act which should apply to all cases except where there was anything inconsistent with the treaties referred to. The treaty of 1843 is one of such treaties, and there being something in section 3, sub-section 2, inconsistent with the treaty, the condition so imposed does not apply to the treaty." The judges in the case were Cockburn, Blackburn and Mellor. The first said "I see plainly what was the intention of the legislature—that is to say, it was intended, while getting rid of the statutes by which the treaties were confirmed, to save the existing treaties in their full integrity and force. This has been probably effected." The second said, "I have no doubt that it was intended that the old treaties should still have force and effect, and that they should be enforced by the machinery provided under the extradition act of 1870. It was not intended to abrogate the old treaties." The third said "I am inclined to agree with the construction of section 27 suggested by the attorney general; but I feel some doubt, and it would be advisable to set all doubt at rest by further legislation."

After this, and in the light of common sense and international comity it ought not to be contended by the English government that the act of Parliament of 1870 supersedes the treaty of 1842. The restrictions that the English now insist upon are undoubtedly wholesome, and should be incorporated into the extradition treaty, but this can only be done by both parties to the treaty, and by withholding Winslow before any notice of a desire to abrogate the treaty of 1842 is given England manifestly violates the eleventh article of that treaty.

THE HIGHWAY APPROPRIATION.

The street commissioner denies that he added thirty four names to his pay roll between the two recent city elections. Whether he added some other number or whether he added any at all are matters of which we are not informed. The alderman from the second ward may have been incorrectly reported, but we believe otherwise. The financial statement given by Mr. Peabody today is satisfactory as far as it goes, but it is incomplete. According to it the total amount paid out since July 15th last is $31,529.02 of which only $26,358.30 was for work done since that date. The appropriation made last June for the street department was $55,000. Three extra appropriations of $2,000 each were made during the Winter raising the amount at his disposal to $61,000. Last Tuesday evening $2,000 was appropriated to pay bills audited by the finance committee but which there was no money to pay. Another appropriation of $2,000 was asked for to carry on the work during this last month of the municipal year. Alderman Weaver would not agree that bills due but not yet audited should be paid out of this $2000. The inference is that such an arrangement would not leave much of the appropriation for new work. It is not unreasonable to presume therefore, that these unpresented and unaudited bills amount to $1000. This indicates, then, at the first of this month $61,000 had been expended, bills to the amount of $3,600 had been contracted in addition, and there was no money to carry on work during the last month of the year. This makes a total of $64,600 of expenditures incurred in eleven months, when $55,000 was expected to last twelve months.

Since July 15th it appears from Mr. Peabody's statement only about $31,500 have been paid out. During the year $61,000 have gone somewhere, so that we are to infer that $29,500 was paid out between June 15th and July 15th. This sum is just about what the contracts for the Tanner street sewer and the Spring street improvements amounted to. But these contracts were not forgotten by the council when the appropriations were made. The sum of $55,000 was appropriated for all the uses of the street department. We do not understand that there is any "ring" or that Mr. Peabody is accused of corrupt practices, but is it right for a street commissioner to overrun his appropriations nearly $10,000 in eleven months? We do not understand that it is his prerogative to determine the amount of work that should be done. The city council decided that after paying for Spring street and the new sewer about $30,000 should be laid out on the streets. Mr. Peabody decided that this was not enough and his expenditures and his bills contracted have exceeded that sum by nearly one third, and work must be stopped for want of money in the very best month of the year. As we said before the question of Mr. Peabody's honesty is not raised. But knowing how much money the city council had appropriated for him over and above the amounts of the two contracts referred to, was it proper for him to spend all that money before December and depend on special appropriations amounting in all to $10,600, ($8,600 of which he has received) for the last half of the year with a prospect of even then leaving a lot of unpaid bills?

THE COMING STEAMSHIP LIGHT.—The steamship L'Amerique exhibits every night a dazzling signal light which she carries. About twenty feet from the bow is a sort of wrought iron lighthouse, six feet in diameter and twenty-five in height, including the lantern. This has an arc of illumination of 3600 feet, within which, on the darkest night, the steamer may be described at a distance of twelve miles. The light can be made to flash if required, and on a clear, fine night can always be seen from the horizon, twenty-eight miles. The electricity is generated by friction, which a little machine, in connection with the engines, and which makes 1000 revolutions per minute, supplies. The engineer has entire charge of the electrical arrangements, and the batteries are in the engine room.

THE METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Among the Methodists of America Baltimore is regarded as historic ground. Just a hundred years ago the first conference was held here, and now again the representatives of the church have come back to the place of beginning to celebrate the centennial and prepare the way for future and more extended work. The conference met on Monday and organized for business. Bishop Janes of New York presided supported by the whole board of bishops who occupied the platform with him and took part in the services. The Rev. Dr. Woodruff of Fall River was elected secretary on the second ballot with Dr. Pershing of Pittsburg as assistant. An address of welcome was read by Bishop Ames of Baltimore and responded to by the presiding officer.

The conference meets in the elegant Academy of Music and is superbly entertained. The academy is hired from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. during the session for the round sum of one thousand dollars. This is paid from the rental of seats in those parts of the building not in use by the conference and not needed for its business.

After the organization of the conference the several delegations proceeded to draw for seats and the eagerness to get good positions for future speeches and favorable sight seeing was very great. About eighty delegations were to be provided for and the work proceeded with not a little interest and amusement. The first choice fell to Colorado, then came in Ohio, Alabama, Liberia, Oregon, India, and so on, through the list. The last name taken from the box was Providence conference and the one next to the last was New York. These two ambitious delegations, therefore take a back seat. The Providence members took the many jokes passed to them in good part and boldly claim that the best place in the house was reserved for them.

Much of the business is done by large committees made up of one from each conference. These, of course, are not yet in working order. As such committees have eighty members they are quite respectable bodies of themselves and work in turn through sub committees, of which more hereafter.

EXPENDITURES IN THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor of the Daily News:—

In your paper yesterday you gave the report of some remarks made in the board of aldermen by the alderman from the second ward. If you have reported him correctly he says I have added thirty four names to the pay roll between the two recent municipal elections. In vindication of my own character, which I consider more valuable to me than any office, I am under the necessity of pronouncing his remarks a malicious falsehood and I can prove it by my books to any one that feels interested in the matter. I understand the same person has reported that I have expended sixty thousand dollars on streets and highways since July 15th 1875. I deny the charge and therefore I will make a statement of expenditures since July 15th, 1875 to April 31st, 1876.

Bills paid since July 15th, 1875	$ 24,539.02
Bills contracted previous to July 15th	1,760.64

Paid in the city treasury	2,910.71

STATE MISCELLANY.

Pawtucket has again voted against the introduction of water.

A committee of physicians decides that several of the Providence school buildings are so badly ventilated that something must be done immediately to prevent very serious consequences.

The "first scup" of the season, caught near Westerly, was taken on Friday last, at Watch Hill, by Capt. S. O. Main's gang, only a single one being captured at that haul.

There was a meeting of the Independent financial reform party at Providence Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was called to organize throughout the state, for the Presidential campaign; and to choose delegates to the national independent reform convention, which is to be held at Indianapolis, Indiana, on the 17th of this month.

A building of large dimensions (probably 50 by 75 feet, and two or three stories high) is proposed to be erected on the wharf of John Hobart Cross, in the lower part of Westerly. The store formerly occupied by George D. Cross is being removed to make room for the new building, a portion of which, we understand, will be occupied for the storage of lumber by the American Spool company.

The Providence Journal credits Westerly with having in Amherst College a young man named Henry D. Maxson, who is "one of four juniors just appointed class monitors because they hold the highest rank as scholars." We presume that the young man referred to is Henry Doly Maxson, a son of Charles H. Maxson of DeRuyter, N. Y., and a brother of Charles B. Maxson of Westerly, whom he has visited several times since entering Amherst College. He is reported as standing in his class, with three others, 94 plus, which would entitle him to be one of the four monitors. Westerly has three or four students in Amherst. College who stand so well that an Amherst professor, speaking of the matter to one of our citizens, told him that if there were more such boys in Westerly to be educated, he hoped they would be sent along.—[Narragansett Weekly.

PORTSMOUTH.

On Sunday morning, the 7th inst., the ordinance of baptism will be administered by the Rev. I. S. Jones, pastor of the Christian church, at the usual place in the river at the foot of the Glen, at 10 o'clock. At the service at the church in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, the candidates will be admitted to the church. A short address will be given to be followed by the communion. In the evening, it is expected, as is every way fitting and proper, the Rev. Ellen Gustin will preach the sermon.

AN OLD NEWPORT STORY.

A medical gentleman in Providence sends to Harper's Drawer the following:

"This being the year of the great centennial, when old relics, long since forgotten, are dragged out and exhibited; when old landmarks, long effaced, are now furbished up, as it were, and pointed out; in fine, when all old stories and legends and histories of the Revolution have become so interesting as we approach our great gala day—it might not, perhaps, be out of place here to give a story in regard to the word killick*, or killock, which has but for a few years been found in our dictionaries.

"My grandfather related the anecdote to me about twenty years ago, and he had heard it from his father, who lived during the war of independence.

"Some fishermen went out fishing in a small row-boat in the vicinity of Newport, Rhode Island. During the day they had passed the bottle around pretty freely, as was customary in those good old days, and, in consequence, became quite exhilarated. British cruisers were ever upon the watch for any unwary boat or vessel, and in those times to venture out in a small and unarmed boat was peculiarly hazardous.

"Toward night, to their unspeakable horror, they perceived the much-dreaded British man-of-war coming directly toward them. And as it appeared they were discovered, the man officiating at the bottle passed the liquor around, and urged them to take a drink all round and row for home. The cruiser drew near, while they, in spite of hard pulling, did not seem to advance an inch. But the occasional draughts taking effect their drooping spirits were somewhat revived, and they pulled the harder.

"Soon after a dense fog settled down upon them, and both boats were shut out of sight. At the same time the helmsman encouraged his men with one more cheering taste out of the bottle, and exclaimed, 'Row, boys, row! we shall be home before morning.' And row they did, as fear and liquor only could urge them on. Still the fog was their salvation. For when it was lifted, at the approach of morning, they found, to their great astonishment, that they had forgotten to raise anchor, and had been rowing round the killick all night."

*A killick is a small anchor.—Dict. (Bartlett).

THE SNOW-FLAKE.

Whenever a snow-flake leaves the sky,
It turns and turns to say "Good-by!
Good-by, dear cloud, so cool and gray!"
Then lightly travels on its way.

And when a snow-flake finds a tree,
"Good-day!" it says—"Good-day to thee!
Thou art so bare and lonely, dear,
I'll rest and call my comrades here."

But when a snow-flake, brave and meek,
Lights on a rosy maiden's cheek,
It starts—"How warm and soft the day!
'Tis Summer!"—and it melts away.

—[St. Nicholas.

There was once an awful little girl, who had an awful way of saying "awful" to everything. She lived in an awful house, in an awful street, in an awful village, which was an awful distance from every other awful place. She went to an awful school, where she had an awful teacher, who gave her awful lessons out of awful books. Every day she was so awful hungry that she ate an awful amount of food, so that she looked awful healthy. Her hat was awful small and her feet were awful large. She went to an awful church, and her minister was an awful preacher. When she took an awful walk, she climbed awful hills, and, when she got tired, she sat down under an awful tree to rest herself. In the Summer she found the weather awful hot and in Winter awful cold. When it didn't rain there was an awful drouth, and when an awful drouth was over there was an awful rain. So this awful girl was all the time in an awful state, and if she does not get over saying "awful" about everything, she will, by and by, come to an awful end. And this awful little girl lives in this awful city.—[Cincinnati Times.

AN INGENIOUS PIECE OF MECHANISM.—Mr. Andrew Gaudron is, after nearly a year of constant labor, says the Detroit Tribune, about completing a complicated piece of mechanism, intended to represent the "resurrection of General Washington," and which it is his intention to exhibit at the Centennial Exposition. The whole apparatus is enclosed in a cabinet nine feet high, 3½ feet broad, and 2½ feet deep. The lower half contains the machinery, and in the upper portion the diorama is displayed. The scene is a fac-simile of the tomb of Washington. Upon one side stands an American and on the other a French soldier of the present day, while at the side and upon the recess beyond are painted allegorical figures and emblems. The machinery, which is quite complicated, is operated by a spring similar to those used in a clock. When it is set in motion a miniature cannon is fired, a bell is tolled, and a curtain, suspended across the face of the recess of the cabinet, rises slowly, bringing to view the tomb and sentinel soldiers. The latter stand at an "order." In the course of a minute or so the tomb opens, and a fac-simile of the father of his country arises therefrom. Simultaneously the soldiers face toward the tomb and present arms, and Washington performs the usual military salutation. Then there descends from the clouds an American eagle, holding in its talons a staff, on one end of which is an American flag, and upon the other the national ensign of France, carrying in its beak a laurel wreath with which it crowns the resurrected Washington. The machinery continues to revolve, and the scene is reversed and repeated as often as is desired, each representation requiring about three minutes. The figures are made upon a scale of about three inches to the foot, are well proportioned and appropriately costumed.

PERSONALS.

......When in Boston, the emperor of Brazil will have apartments at the Brunswick, the new and elegant hotel in that city.

......The Rev. W. K. Pierce, of the Brimfield, Mass., Congregational church, proposes and receives a 20 per cent. reduction of his salary. The Rev. B. H. Ferry of the Unitarian church at Northampton, Mass., proposed, and the church agreed to, a reduction of $200 in his salary, leaving it $1,800.

......Gov. Tilden has appointed, and the New York senate has promptly confirmed Mrs. Charles Russell Lowell as a state commissioner of charities. She is the first woman who ever received an office from the state of New York. Mrs. Lowell is the widow of the gallant Col. Charles R. Lowell, (nephew of the poet), who was killed in the Shenandoah valley, and sister of Col. R. G. Shaw, who fell at the head of his colored troops before Fort Wagner, and she has spent most of her life in works of patriotism and benevolence. As Miss Shaw she was an active member of the Sanitary Commission, and since the foundation of the State Charities Aid Association she has identified herself with its interests.

......The Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, in the Elmira Gazette, advances the original and startling proposition that the election bribery laws be repealed, and that votes be sold in an open market. He asserts that "while the world stands, votes will be bought and sold in a Democracy;" that "vast numbers of voters cannot possibly use their votes wisely;" that "it is better for capital to get out the vote by cash than for party men to get it out by bribes and lies;" that "to vote a proxy is no innovation, no disgrace to stockholders," nor in itself immoral, and that "bribery laws once repealed, honest, wealthy and patriotic men could bid in open market for the votes which are now sold to the knavish and corrupt only."

The Quality of the Blood.

Upon the quality of the blood depends, in a great measure, the vigor and health of the body. If the blood is wanting in nutritious properties, the muscles are sure to be weak and flabby, the flesh deficient in quantity, the skin sallow and dry, the cheeks hollow, and the eyes lustreless. To improve the quality of the blood, stimulate digestion and assimilation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the influence of this strength-creating cordial the body is efficiently nourished and the flesh grows, in consequence, more abundant, the muscles become more compact, the cheek is tinged with a healthful color, and the eye regains its brightness. The Bitters also free the blood from impurities by stimulating the kidneys and bowels to thoroughly perform their duty of carrying off the refuse of the system, which, if not entirely got rid of, poisons the vital current. my3-1w-n&j

Dr. Schenck's Standard Remedies.

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and, if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed, mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and the Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck, either personally or by letter, can do so at his principal office, corner of SIXTH and ARCH STS., Philadelphia, every Monday.

Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists throughout the country. mar6-2m-nn

AGRICULTURAL.

THE INSECTS OF THE APPLE.

1. The borer (saperda viridula) is a nocturnal insect, and is very destructive to our orchards. The female deposits her eggs on the trunk of the tree. These hatch, and a footless grub enters the tissues of the bark, burrowing deeper as they grow, till they penetrate the heart of the tree. In the Spring the perfect insect emerges to the light of day.

The remedy is to cut into the discolored and depressed portions of the bark, and if the worm has penetrated into the wood, pursue him with a blunt wire. As to preventives, scrub the bark of the tree with soft soap or other alkaline washes, in May or June; at the same time place some in the forks of the branches. Examine again in August, and, as the worms are found, inject the wash. Also encourage the presence of birds, especially those which destroy the grubs of wood boring insects.

2. The thick-legged borer (chrysobothis femorata) is a variety common at the West. The perfect insect, a black beetle about one half inch long, may be found on the trees in June and July. This beetle works higher up than the saperda. Seek for the young in thin, shallow burrows in the bark in August, before they have penetrated the wood.

3. The twig-borer (bostrichus bicondatus) attacks the small limbs, producing an effect resembling blight, and causing the death of the plants in midsummer.—This insect is a beetle, about one-quarter inch in length, and works his way into the wood near the axil of a leaf. Destroy the insect, and cut off and burn the dead branches.

4. Another variety is the leptostylus acuiferus. It bores under the bark. It is a short, thick, brownish-gray beetle, with spines upon its wing-covers, and may be found in August.

5. The bark beetle (tornicus mali) is a new variety. Is small, smooth, black or chestnut-red, and round. The young feed under the bark and then enter the wood, killing the young trees.

The remedy for the two last is to keep the trees well washed with a strong lye made white with lime, in May or June.

6. The bark louse (Aspidiotus conchiformis) commits sad devastation in some sections. These insects are very prolific, and soon cover the twigs of the trees and sistruct the vital juices. Often the leaves and fruit are overrun with them. The nidus of these insects form the "scales," which are flat and brown and overlapping and easily recognized. The eggs hatch in Spring (May), and attaching themselves to the bark, the insects absorb the sap. Strong leys or solutions of potash or soda, or whitewash, lye and sulphur, as also tobacco boiled in lye, are remedies. Applications should be made in May or June. The lady-birds feed upon these pests.

7. The leaf louse (Aphis mali) is a small, green, wingless insect. They crowd upon the tops of twigs and on the under sides of leaves, living upon the sap. The eggs are laid in deep cracks of the bark and hatch when the buds expand.

To destroy these eggs, scrape the bark and apply alkaline or lime washes.

8. The root louse (Pemphigus pyri) is a great pest. It is found in warty excrescences on the roots. The removal of the earth and the application of soap suds (hot—Rep.) is the remedy. This louse is very destructive to nursery stock.

9. The codling moth (Carpocapsa pomonella) is one that gives us so much trouble that we now have few perfect specimens of fruit. This moth appears early in the Summer and drops its eggs singly upon the blossom-end of the apple. The grub passes thence to the core of the fruit. In warm weather it attains its growth in three or four weeks, and, eating its way out, instinctively makes its way to the foot of the tree, where it secretes itself under the bark and passes into its pupa state. This affords an opportunity to catch and destroy them. The moth may be caught by burning lamps or fires in the orchard. The pupa can be trapped in large numbers by putting rags in the crotches of the trees, by ropes of hay placed around the trunks—either of which will entrap great numbers. They should be destroyed as often as once in ten days. All wormy apples should be gathered as soon as they fall, boiled and fed to the stock. Sheep, etc., kept in the orchard, will eat the fruit as fast as it falls and destroy many of the pupæ.

10. The tent or nest caterpillar (clisiocampa Americana) is found not only on the apple tree, but also on the wild cherry and persimmon. The eggs may be seen during the Winter under a sheath, or the nest may be destroyed in the Spring.

11. The lapped caterpillar (gastropacha Americana) is a flat worm, and, when at rest, can scarcely be distinguished from the bark. They feed only at night. The remedy for these is to hunt and destroy them.—[Paper read at the Potomac Fruit Growers' meeting.

PATENT

SPECTACLES.

The advantages of the Parabola Glasses over the old form of Spectacles, are a greater density of material, perfect surfaces, and Parabolic form. These qualities, united, form the most perfect of lenses. In the perfect transmission of light, joined to their peculiar form the wearer of the Parabola Spectacles is enabled to prosecute the most trying labors of the eye without those distressing results which follow the use of all other glasses. A peculiar and important feature in these Spectacles is witnessed in cases where young persons have been obliged to resort to the use of glasses, from some physical debility having affected temporarily their vision. In such cases the eye soon regains its healthy powers, and the glasses can be laid aside without having had the least tendency to affect the eyes so as to demand their continuous use.

[From Dr. George McClellan, Philadelphia.]

I have recommended the "Parabola Spectacles" to several of my patients, and have received from most of them warm encomiums upon the article. They assert that these glasses do not fatigue the eyes by long use, as is apt to be the case with the double concave Spectacles, while the command of the eyes over the object of vision is much greater. This corresponds with the opinion any optician would form from his knowledge of the principles upon which those glasses are adjusted—so as to converge the rays coming from different quarters to the same focal distance. The eyes can be turned to a considerable extent, therefore, under these glasses, without involving the necessity of moving the head.

Tingley Automatic Heat Governor.

Price Reduced Until the First of July Next.

Price attached to furnace $30. Better pay for a Governor that will surely prevent the escape of poisonous gases from your furnace, than save your money, and breathe a tainted atmosphere, suffer from the inconvenience of coal dust, unevenly heated rooms, and danger from fire. AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 70 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of Inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents; as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

IT PAYS

any smart man who wishes to make $2,000 a year on a SMALL capital to commence in our line of Business. Roofing is a Specialty. There is no one in your county who carries on the business. You can learn it in one week by studying our instructions, which we send to all who ask for them. Any man having $100 capital to start with can purchase enough material to roof three ordinary houses. The sum realized from sale and profit on this supply, added to the regular pay for labor as roofer, should amount to not less than $20 a day. An expert man could easily do the work in nine working days. Two persons of small means can join together to advantage; one canvassing, while the other attends to the work. Send for our book of instruction (free if you write at once), and study it. Ask for terms. If you are unable to advance the money, present the matter to the principal storekeeper in your place, and talk it over with him. He will be glad to furnish the stock and divide the profit with you. We will guarantee the territory to the first responsible applicant. Address N. Y. SLATE ROOFING CO., Limited, 4 Cedar St., N. Y., and mention apr25 4w

THE NEW AMERICAN STORY

ACHSAH:

A New England Life-Study.

By Rev. PETER PENNOT. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50.

The manly, whole-souled, and devoted young clergyman is no fancy sketch; Deacon Sterne, the sanctimonious hypocrite; the plain talking old maid sister; the sneaking, spying aunt, are life-like and real, while the heroine, Achsah, is a lovely character, with whom the reader is in deep sympathy. These, with the various other characters of the story, are so combined as to produce a book full of interest from beginning to end.

THE NEW

REMINGTON Sewing Machine

STILL STANDS

UNRIVALLED.

All competent judges acknowledge it to be the simplest, the easiest, the quietest and the most easily handled of any shuttle machine now in market. It will sew with perfect stitch, from the finest muslin to the heaviest and firmest beaver cloth, or leather, without change of stitch, needle, thread or tension. Its percentage of increase of sales in 1874 was 93¾ per cent and 87¾ per cent, more than any other machine. In 1875 its ratio of increase was still greater, being 100 per cent. More than fifteen thousand other machines of first-class make have already been exchanged for it.

No person wishing a sewing machine can do themselves justice, whatever their prejudice, if they fail to examine the New Remington before purchasing. Five dollars a month will buy you a Remington at 35 BROADWAY.

COR-CORAN'S IMPROVED WIND MILL!

ATTENTION is invited to this improved mill, as surpassing all others in Simplicity, Efficiency, Symmetry and Economy. Recent improvements have reduced the friction, (about from 60 to only 4, and being provided with patent lubricating cups, it may run thirty days by once oiling. It may be cheaply mounted, (the smaller mill costing only $65.00), or by an artistic tower it may be set to become an ornament as well as an invaluable convenience at every suburban residence. I would be pleased to attend those in want, or refer to engineer at Torpedo Station, whose practical experience will enable him to explain its merits more fully.
